

If tradition is a question of choice, then technology is the aspect that allows a company to go beyond the market's expectations. For this reason, Blue Leather tannery always keeps pace with the times, making use of the most innovative instruments to create a high quality wet blue product.

This quality is the result of a daily production of 1.500 skins kid goat or lamb, involving the constant and careful work of over 20 employees and a computerised control system that leaves nothing to chance. This way, it is easier to work on skins to make them perfect even if sometimes they are not so by nature.
